DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on April 25, 2005, has been entered.

Claims 20, 22-27, 30 and 31 are pending and are examined on the merits.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of the species wherein the nitrite reducer is sulfamic acid, in Paper No. 5, filed June 9, 2003, is again acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)). Because a composition as recited in claim 20, comprising

- (a) a polymethine dye,
- (b) a nitrite reducer selected from the group consisting of sulfamic acid or isoascorbic acid, and

(c) a buffer for maintaining an acidic pH, is considered free of the prior art, examination has been extended to other species within the Markush group now in amended claim 20.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 20, 22-24, 26 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mizukami et al (EP 0 882 983 A2) in view of Anderson et al (U.S. Pat. 5,135,736).

Mizukami discloses processes whereby a reagent comprising a polymethine dye and a quaternary ammonium surfactant, at a pH ranging from 4.5 to 11, is used to differentially stain leukocytes. See pages 3 and 4. Mizukami differs from the claims failing to disclose the inclusion in the reagent of a substance capable of reducing nitrite ions.

However, Mizukami clearly discloses the desirability of using a buffer in the composition. See, e.g., page 4, lines 32-34, disclosing the use of various buffers, including the organic acid citric acid. Thus, one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention clearly would have recognized that the claim-recited compound glycine, also a well known organic acid known to be suitable for use as a buffer within the pH range (4.5 to 11), would have been suitable for use as a buffer in Mizukami's compositions.

For example, Anderson, at column 20, lines 22-49, clearly discloses the suitability of glycine as a buffer for use in the in vitro testing of cells, as in the dyeing process of Mizukami. Recognizing from Anderson the suitability of glycine as a buffer for the in vitro testing of cells, the artisan of ordinary skill would have been motivated to have included it in Mizukami's staining reagent as the buffering component. Thus, the artisan of ordinary skill would have been motivated to have included a compound which meets the claim limitations of being both a buffer for maintaining an acidic pH, and being a nitrite ion reducer. A holding of obviousness over the cited claims is therefore required.

Claims 30 and 31 are allowed. Claim 25 is objected to as depending from a rejected claim.
